

1. READ

Lag B'Omer is in May. We celebrate our freedom to learn Jewish things, like being able to read PJ Library books and being part of a Jewish community. You and your family can celebrate Lag B'Omer by reading PJ Library books together, talking with your family about what you like about being Jewish, and enjoying the ability to be outside together.

2. ASK

What are your favorite Jewish stories?

Do you have a favorite PJ Library book?

What have you learned from that book?

3. DO

Ask an older relative to share a story about a Jewish holiday memory from their childhood. Draw a picture below about that story.
